Covad Channel Partner CICAT Networks Signs National Broadband Deal with Pacific Sunwear

San Jose, Calif. (March 9, 2006) – Covad Communications Group, Inc. (AMEX: DVW), a leading national provider of integrated voice and data communications, has been selected to be the primary provider of national broadband access to Pacific Sunwear, a leading specialty retailer of casual apparel, accessories and footwear for teens and young adults with over 1000 locations across the US. The deal was concluded through the efforts of CICAT Networks, a Virginia-based telecommunications service provider to enterprises, and Covad's largest broadband channel partner.

"Covad is pleased to join with CICAT in providing service to Pacific Sunwear," said Patrick Blair, Covad executive director of sales. "Our longstanding relationship with CICAT provides Covad the opportunity to expand our reach and better serve our customers in the distributed enterprise market."

Pacific Sunwear has deployed Covad DSL solutions in over 60 percent of its locations that have broadband access, and is planning on adding an additional 300 locations. The company is migrating its sites onto broadband access to take advantage of that technology's faster data speeds and capacity to run new applications. CICAT Networks continues to manage Pacific Sunwear's multi-site broadband rollout.

"Covad and CICAT are proven leaders in this space, because we put the customer first," said Brad Wise, CICAT's president and CEO. "Covad's national network and portfolio of business-class voice and data solutions, combined with CICAT's professional and technical expertise, enables our customers to focus on increasing revenue and improving productivity while we manage a complex national broadband rollout."

The partnership between Covad and CICAT has also resulted in broadband service deployments to companies such as The Children's Place, Strasburg-Jarvis, and AutoZone.
